CHRISTMAS JOY IS CARRIED INTO HOMES OF POOR

Empty Stocking Club Gladdens Many a Child in Phoenix Who Might Have Otherwise Been Neglected

As they say on the eve of general elections, "weather indications are that there will be a heavy vote." So it was predicted last night on Christmas eve that this would be an enjoyable Christmas. The weather seemed to be all right and so far as possible means had been taken to bring Santa Claus into every house in the community. It may unfortunately be that some will be overlooked. But that will not be the fault of anybody. Everything has been done that could be done.

There was a most generous outpouring in behalf of the poor. Twice as much, five times as much money could have been raised for the asking. Busy men cheerfully spent the time necessary to take presents to children in all parts of the city.

Notwithstanding The Republican had given notice that the Empty Stocking Club has ceased soliciting gifts, they came in yesterday in the shape of toys, and one person who left no name contributed $2.

And let us hear no more about profiteering. The merchants of Phoenix from whom toys, candy, nuts and supplies were bought with the funds of the Empty Stocking Club cut their prices to the bone, so that the money went farther than was expected.

In the course of the campaign some humorous things developed and some of them caused confusion. Youngsters on their own motion, not quite understanding the purposes of the club, without the consent or knowledge of their parents, wrote to the club and were placed on the list.

Two little boys living out of town sent in peculiar requisitions upon Santa Claus. One letter follows:

"Please bring me a box of points, No. 49T3858, and a structo auto builder, No. 79T568/4 and an aeroplane with motor, No. 69T5762, and a box of tools, No. 79T74, and a Charlie Chaplin penknife, No. 6T1700, etc."

These cryptic numbers were puzzling for a while, but at last it was figured that the youth was ordering from a mail order catalogue. Santa Claus does not deal with mail order houses, so that these particular requests could not be met.

It was brought out that one little girl, the daughter of a very wealthy and one of the most prominent citizens of the state, had written five letters to Santa Claus. Each letter brought to his attention something that she had forgotten in her preceding message. It turned out that she was not caring so much for the gifts she wrote about as to open and maintain a correspondence with such a distinguished personage. It was the first chance she had ever had to do so. She had heard of him only as a shadowy person with whom people seldom came into contact. Now, here he was; at any rate he could be reached by letter.

Passengers on the Brill car the other evening overheard an entertaining conversation while the car was waiting at the switch for another car. The mother of one of the little girls living in a nearby house had just called her. Said the other: "Run along now; youotta mind your mudder, for Christmas is 'most here now."

ASKS $20,000 FOR A SPINAL INJURY

Claiming that he suffered injuries that incapacitated him from following his usual labor, John Radrick, a minor, yesterday filed a $20,000 action against the Ray Consolidated Copper company in the office of the clerk of the United States district court.

Radrick alleges that he was injured last February when in the employ of the company as timberman. While in the pursuit of his duties he alleges a quantity of ore fell on him injuring his spinal column.

The action was first brought in the superior court of this county and was transferred on motion for removal by the defendant, F. C. Struckmeyer brought the action to Radrick.

Hitchcock says it is up to the senate, and Lodge says it is up to the president. We can't pass a treaty by passing the buck.
